Minimal Data Set Frequently Asked Questions

Q: What is the Minimal Data Set?

A: The Minimal Data Set (or "MDS") is a standardized set of intake and follow-up questions asked by all publicaly funded quitlines in North America. It was created to:

- Facilitate data collection and comparisons across quitlines.
- Make it easier to answer questions critical to improving quitline practices, yet are impossible to answer by a single quitline.

Q:What is the purpose of the MDS?

A: The MDS offers a standard approach to evaluating tobacco cessation quitlines. It facilitates performance monitoring, makes learning from other quitlines and comparisons between quitlines possible and does not impose undue resource burdens on quitlines. It helps to inform quitline operations, facilitate comparative evaluation studies and enhance research opportunities.

Q:What are the benefits of using the MDS?

A: The MDS:

- Provides a common language that allows for consistent communication with others within and outside of the quitline community.
- Identifies quitline performance benchmarks that can be used to determine effective, cost-efficient tobacco cessation interventions.
- Provides a mechanism to test and assess new treatment techniques across large diverse populations not possible by a single quitline
- Collects consistent data and allows aggregation of data across quitlines for improved analyses of a variety of variables relevant to the success of North American quitlines.

Q: How was the MDS developed?

A: In 2003, the North American Quitline Consortium's Research & Evaluation Working Group, under the leadership of Dr. Sharon Campbell (University of Waterloo), began developing the MDS to evaluate quitlines. Members included quitline funders, administrators, service providers, researchers and evaluators. The goal was to develop a standard set of questions — the "minimal" amount needed to get good information about callers, but not so extensive as to overburden quitlines and callers.

Drawing on literature reviews, tobacco control expertise and the experience of NAQC members, the working group developed the MDS. It was then pilot tested, revised and introduced at the 2005 NAQC Annual Conference. Adoption and implementation was done on a voluntary basis.

Q: Is the MDS mandatory?

A: No, use of the MDS is voluntary. As of December 2008, it has been implemented by all public quitlines in North America.

O: How are changes made to the MDS?

A: The MDS is a living document. It is subject to periodic revisions and expansions as evidence, experience and capacity allow. Regular reviews of the MDS ensure that the best science is used to collect data on quitline callers and that the MDS questions serve the needs of the quitline community. The first formal review of the MDS was in early 2009. Recommended updates to the MDS were released in August 2009. A period for comments and thorough review by members followed the release. Moving forward, regular reviews are anticipated.

Optional questions can be proposed by NAQC members at any time. Learn more on the process for submitting an optional question for consideration.

Q: How does the MDS relate to NAQC's Annual Survey or new quality standards for measuring reach and quit rate?

A: The current 2009 review of the MDS is being conducted with the Annual Survey questions and the new quality standard measurements in mind. Recommended updates to the MDS ensure the new standard measures are supported by the MDS questions. The Annual Survey questions will be revised accordingly to request data that is possible to collect with the updated MDS items.

Q: Where do I go for more information or if I have additional questions?

A: All MDS technical documents can be found on NAOC's Web site. There you will find:

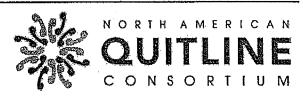

- Current MDS Intake and Follow-up.
- Talking points and rationale for specific MDS intake and follow-up items, including rationale for the 7-month follow-up time period
- NAQC Issue Paper Measuring Quit Rates: Provides information on calculating quit rates and detailed recommendations regarding the quit rate questions and methodology related to the follow-up survey
- History of the development of the MDS Campbell HS, Ossip-Klein D, Bailey L; et al. Minimal dataset for quitlines: a best practice. Tobacco Control 2007;16:i16-i20

MDS Intake Questions December 30, 2009

Notes:

All MDS intake and follow-up questions now have a unique MDS ID. A prefix of "SI" indicates Standard Intake, "SF" indicates Standard Follow-up, "OI" indicates Optional Intake, and "OF" indicates Optional Follow-up.

The updated MDS Intake questions contain two options for assessing use of different tobacco types. The first (Option 1), which is included in the primary section of the intake questions, assesses for all types of tobacco at the same time. Option 2 is included in the Appendix, and contains exactly the same questions, but in a different order. Option 2 reflects the ordering of the original MDS, and asks about cigarette use first, and other types of tobacco later. The two options are provided in an attempt to provide maximum flexibility for quitlines while increasing standardization of the individual questions.

Seven-Month MDS Follow-up Questions December 30, 2009

All MDS intake and follow-up questions now have a unique MDS ID. A prefix of "SI" indicates Standard Intake, "SF" indicates Standard Follow-up, "OI" indicates Optional Intake, and "OF" indicates Optional Follow-up.

For additional information on recommended methods and protocols for conducting follow-up surveys, including timing of follow-up surveys, increasing response rates, and using MDS items to calculate quit rates, see the NAQC Issue paper "Measuring Quit Rates" available at http://www.naquitline.org/resource/resmgr/docs/naqc_issuepaper_measuringqui.pdf or the Implementation Guide for quit rates available at http://www.naquitline.org/?page=qiita.
